

Family Profile Form

With the help of their adoption worker, families with a completed, approved Oregon homestudy can prepare a short narrative for posting on the OARE website. Family profiles are visible to Oregon workers, not to other families. A family profile is strongly encouraged.

Family Narrative (300-500 words)

A narrative should be consistent with the family homestudy. Please see the next page for ideas and suggestions on what to include in a family narrative.

Tips for Family Profiles

Family profiles on the Oregon Adoption Resource Exchange (OARE) website serve as a friendly introduction for child caseworkers to discover prospective adoptive families. This helps busy caseworkers to pre-identify if families might be a match for waiting children on their caseload. Just as families learn about children from child profiles, child caseworkers learn about families from family profiles.

A short narrative might include some of the following:

- Brief description of individuals living in the home (for children, include year of birth, not age)
- Short household summary (city vs. country; home vs. apartment; type of neighborhood; pets; etc.)
- Family lifestyle (active vs. low key; “homebodies” vs. “on-the-go”; artistic or athletic; etc.)
- Family’s parenting experience through birth, foster care and/or adoption
- General experience with children (as caregivers, teachers, coaches, tutors, counselors, Scout leaders, nurses, etc.)
- Special needs training, experience and/or expertise
- Family’s support network, including extended family and community
- Local resources (nearby medical center, schools, community center, etc.)
- Cultural strengths and involvement (language, traditions, spirituality, etc.)
- Any additional qualities or aspects that make a family unique
